

The Rareview Longevity Income Generation Fund is an open-end mutual fund that invests in a portfolio of closed-end funds (CEFs). We seek to generate long-term capital appreciation and a high level of current income.

The Fund has the flexibility to invest across a diversified basket of asset classes and regions. The Fund will typically be more heavily weighted to fixed income securities, which will allow it to reduce beta exposure to equity assets and seek to deliver a high level of current income.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Fund's investment strategy is to purchase closed-end funds (CEF's) that invest across a diversified group of asset classes. Typical securities will include municipal bonds, investment-grade corporate bonds, high-yield corporate bonds, leveraged loans, emerging-market bonds, convertible debt securities, preferred stocks, US equities, emerging market equities, non-US equities, utility stocks, REIT's, and MLPs. The Fund will seek to invest in the asset classes that will generate the highest return per unit of risk. Normally, fixed-income securities will represent 60% or more of the Fund's assets.

The Fund's investment process is driven by three separate steps. Each step is governed by a rules-based discipline.

STEP 1: A top-down macro asset allocation model that utilizes the latest generation of technical and fundamental factors to weight investments based upon their long-term expected returns.

STEP 2: A proprietary model-driven valuation approach to measuring the relative cheapness of individual closed-end funds. The Fund will aim to invest in the funds that it deems to be the cheapest within each asset class.

STEP 3: Dynamically manage cash balances and systematically purchase index put options. The Fund attempts to protect against substantial market drawdowns. Higher cash balances are systematically deployed on market drawdowns.

Performance data quoted represents past performance; past performance does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance of the fund may be lower or higher than the performance quoted. Performance data current to the most recent month-end may be obtained by calling 1-888-RVFUNDS. Investment performance reflects fee waivers in effect. In the absence of such waivers, total return would be reduced. The Fund imposes a 2% redemption fee on shares redeemed within 90 days of purchase. Performance data does not reflect the redemption fee. If it had, return would be reduced.

INVESTMENT OUTLOOK

We believe that a more defensive approach is warranted, including income-oriented strategies. Expectations for earnings and economic growth remain at historically high levels because of recent fiscal stimulus. However, with the introduction of trade protectionism and tighter financial conditions, we believe it will be difficult to meet these expectations. The interest rate market is pricing a high degree of certainty that the Federal Reserve will raise interest rates at least two more times this year, and continues next year. However, we believe that the balance of the Fed's tightening is already discounted in current market prices. Collectively, this leads us to heavily favor more defensive fixed-income assets as their potential risk-adjusted return is much higher than more speculative credit assets. The taxable equivalent yields in municipal and high yield bond closed-end funds are currently roughly the same. With corporate credit spreads at-or-near record highs, the additional risk of owning high yield bonds is not warranted now. Conversely, the discounts of municipal bond closed-end funds are at either the widest of this cycle or on record. Coupled with the steep degree of anticipated tightening by the Fed priced into the interest rate market, and the potential for substantial discount tightening, we believe there is the potential for municipal bond closed-end funds to generate above-average total returns in the intermediate-term. The upward momentum in equities has moderated and volatility has significantly increased. Going forward, market beta is likely to play less of a role in generating returns. Because of the elevated level of market volatility and their high distribution yields, equity closed-end fund overwrite and covered call strategies may lead to a better risk-adjusted return.

DISCLOSURES

The Funds' investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses must be considered carefully before investing. While the Fund is no-load, management fees and other expenses will apply. The prospectus contains this and other important information about the investment company, and it may be obtained by calling 1-888-RVFUNDS. Please read it carefully before you invest.

Mutual Fund investing involves risk. Principal loss is possible. Investments in debt securities typically decrease in value when interest rates rise. This risk is usually greater for longer-term debt securities. Investments in Asset Backed and Mortgage Backed Securities include additional risks that investors should be aware of such as credit risk, prepayment risk, possible illiquidity and default, as well as increased susceptibility to adverse economic developments. Closed-end funds involve investment risks different from those associated with other investment companies. Shares of closed-end funds frequently trade at either a premium or discount relative to their NAV. When the Fund purchases shares of a closed-end fund at a discount to its NAV, there can be no assurance that the discount will decrease.

The Standard & Poor's 500, often abbreviated as the S&P 500, or just "the S&P", is an American stock market index based on the market capitalizations of 500 large companies having common stock listed on the NYSE or NASDAQ. The S&P 500 index components and their weightings are determined by S&P Dow Jones Indices. The Bloomberg Barclays U.S. Aggregate Bond Index is a broad-based flagship benchmark that measures the investment grade, US dollar-denominated, fixed-rate taxable bond market. The index includes Treasuries, government-related and corporate securities, MBS (agency fixed-rate and hybrid ARM pass-throughs), ABS and CMBS (agency and non-agency). One can not invest directly in an index. Beta is a measure of the volatility, or systematic risk, of a security or a portfolio in comparison to the market as a whole. A credit spread is the difference in yield between a U.S. Treasury bond and a debt security with the same maturity but of lesser quality. Duration is a measure of the sensitivity of the price -- the value of principal -- of a fixed-income investment to a change in interest rates. Duration is expressed as a number of years. Discount-to-NAV -- A pricing situation that occurs with a closed-end mutual fund when its market price is currently lower than the net asset value of its components.
